Treat your Tap Water with a Filter

If your tap water doesn't run through a filter, your body becomes the filter. Filtered water isn't only for quenching thirst. A shower with filtered water contributes to healthier, better-feeling skin and better-looking hair. Additionally, when you cook with filtered water it contributes to better health and better tasting food.

By law, your town is required to add safe chemicals to your tap water to ensure it's free of hazardous contaminants that may seep through upon delivery. Or, even if you have your own well water, there could be natural chemicals coming through your water supply. These additives and chemicals are practically harmless, but they are still foreign to your body and affect the taste of your water and the food you cook with it. That's why One Stop Home Repair recommends the "Whole House Water Systems" offered by Aquasana. They are attached to your main water line and provide filtered water from every faucet throughout your home without any other special equipment. Aquasana says using this home water filtration system is the easiest and most efficient way to live healthier, save money and protect the planet. This means that the water you use will be better for you with all but 1% of the additives remaining. It makes a difference that you can feel and taste.

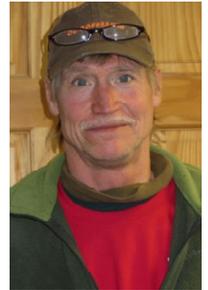

Showering with filtered water comes with many health benefits. When you wash your hair with chemical-free water you will notice your hair will be softer and shinier and you will use less shampoo. A lack of chemicals in water also helps reduce premature aging of skin and helps retain the hair and skin's natural protective oils.

Cooking with filtered water makes food and beverages more appetizing. Coffee and tea have a fresher, cleaner taste without chemicals. Cooking and rinsing pasta in untreated water can affect taste. Homemade bread, especially sourdough bread, tastes better because yeast rises better in filtered water. Fruits and vegetables will be fresher and tastier.

With a water filtration system, you won't have to buy bottled water. You'll feel better after your morning shower and your food will taste better. One Stop Home Repair is offering a free Water Test. Give us a call to install your water filter today. We wish you a wonderful holiday season!

Meet the Crew – Joel Gibbs

One Stop Home Repair is excited to introduce their new full-time electrician, Joel Gibbs. He completed his electrician education at the University of Maine in Orono. He came to One Stop Home Repair with years of experience and is excited to serve our residential customer base.

Having a full-time electrician at One Stop Home Repair means you, the customer, won't be put in a long waiting list to get an electrician to your home. If there aren't any electrical jobs scheduled, Joel will be found on other job sites as a handyman and helper.

Joel strives to create the best experience for his customer and enjoys his work, especially knowing that his customer's are satisfied.

In his spare time, Joel enjoys hiking, hunting, fishing, traveling and photography.

New photos are added daily to Facebook. "Like" our page to see what our crew is doing. We could be working on something you didn't know we offer!

Have a safe and wonderful Holiday Season!

Last month we featured a 1900’s sink that was the oldest One Stop Home Repair had ever replaced. This photo is the new sink One Stop Home Repair installed.

December Checklist

Enjoy the holidays.

Have your heating system inspected by a professional.

Inspect your indoor and outdoor Christmas decorations and extension cords before using them. Replace as necessary.

Water Christmas trees daily.

Hot air rises, reverse ceiling fans so they rotate clockwise so they push the rising air down thus making your heating system more efficient.

Check your fireplace.

Leave chocolate chip cookies for Santa.

Happy Holidays!
